Recause I: Is the Experience of a Mays-ville Citizen and Can Readily Be Investigated.

A stranger lost in a large city would ions given him by a local resident that the guidance of another stranger like the gnidance of another stranger like himself. This is natural consequence of experience; it is like a ship in a strange port—a trusty pilot familiar with the harbor is called upon to bring her safely to her moorings. So it is with indorse-ment; we doubt the sayings of people living at distant points because we can tunestivate, but unblue expression. can't investigate, but public expression of local citizens can be depended on, for 'tis an easy matter to prove it.
